Philippe brings the stars

'STARS (90S DC)' DELL Y&R NEW YORK

NOV 2012

Independent's Philippe Andre recently finished this sweet teen love story for Dell and Y&R, New York. The original idea for the script was about Billy taking pictures of the stars with his telescope which was then adapted into using a DSLR to give it a more modern feel.

The story of Billy and Charlotte starts with long nights of stargazing in their rural neighbourhood but then they are separated by Charlotte's move to bright lights and big city (with a serious lack of starlight). Billy brings the stars to her with a little help from his Dell laptop creating a timelapse film for her.

Philippe said "I wanted to shoot the scenes be as simply as possible. Not adding too much emotion on a touching story helps keep it nicely grounded." Philippe rigged Gold Leica lenses on a Red Epic, to give a filmic look to the spot. We think it looks great.
